KITCHEN & BAR

FROM OUR CHEFS

Here at CRU PVD, we have a love for local ingredients, and we're proud to support small farms and producers from across New England. That can look like sourcing heirloom kale grown just over the state line, fresh eggs from Little Rhody Farms, or real Vermont maple syrup. Whenever we can, we build dishes and drinks around these ingredients to showcase our appreciation for them.

Supporting nearby growers helps us stay connected to the seasons, reduce our footprint, and keep money circulating in the local food system. We also make a point to make things from scratch: like curing and smoking our own maple miso bacon, or rolling fresh pasta by hand with those same local eggs.

We do it because it's fun, and because it makes us excited to share it with you, just like sharing home cooked meals with friends. Every time we highlight a local ingredient or a house-made product, it's a small way of reinforcing that connection: to our community, our environment, and the kind of food we want to be making.
